EXPAND YOUR HORIZON WITH TOWN PLANNING

Thursday 25th May | 6:00-7:00pm

Did you know this specific industry involves different career subjects?

That's right. Town Planning isn't what it seems. It's not just about architecture and organisation but it also involves career subjects that you wouldn't think of. Think maths, geography, psychology, science, history. All these subjects are involved when it comes to a career in Town Planning which just shows how exciting and unique this role is.

We are hosting a Virtual Insight Event with RTPI (Royal Town Planning Institute) talking all things Town Planning.

Students can find out more about what this career could look like, what it involves and how to take the next steps.

RTPI are running another Work Experience programme in the summer too which they will be talking about including, how to apply and tips on applications for students.
